DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

The Amendment filed on Dec. 13, 2006 has been entered. Claims 9 and 10 are cancelled per the Amendment filed, therefore, claims 8, 15, 16, 20-27, 29 and 30 remain pending in the current application.

EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

The title of the application has been amended as follows: Display device and electronic equipment having the same comprising a region for reflecting a polarized light and a region for absorbing the polarized light.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 8, 15-16, 20-27 and 29-30 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Regarding claim 8: Nishino et al. disclose in Figure 1 a display device comprising:
a display unit for forming a predetermined display mode; and

a display switching unit overlapping the display unit at least in one portion, wherein the display switching unit includes first polarization component (element 14) selecting means, polarized-light transmitting axis changing means (element 3), and second polarization component selecting means (element 4) sequentially disposed from the display unit toward an observation side, the first polarization component selecting means transmits a first polarization component and reflects a second polarization component having a polarization axis intersecting with a polarization axis of the first polarization component (Paragraph 0004), the polarized-light transmitting axis changing means is switchable between a state of transmitting light after changing the first polarization component into the second polarization component and a state of transmitting light without substantially changing the polarization axis of the incident light (Paragraph 0003), the second polarization component selecting means transmits one of the first polarization component and the second polarization component and absorbs or reflects the other polarization component, and the display unit emits the first polarization component for forming the display mode.

Arikawa et al. (US 6201770) disclose in Figures 1 and 7 a display device comprising a first region (element 12a), a second region (element 12b) and a third region (element 12c), each selectively transmits and reflects specific polarized lights.

However, Nishino et al. And Arikawa et al. fail to disclose that the display switching unit is provided with a region including the first polarization component selecting means and a region including a third polarization component selecting means for transmitting the first polarization component and for absorbing the second polarization component.

Therefore, claim 8 is deemed non-obvious and inventive over the prior art and thus is allowed.

Regarding claim 15: None of the prior art of record either alone in combination fairly teach or suggest a display device wherein the display switching unit is provided with a region including the first polarization component selecting means and a region including a third polarization component selecting means for transmitting the first polarization component and for absorbing the second polarization component.

Therefore, claim 15 is deemed non-obvious and inventive over the prior arts, hence, is allowed.

As to claims 16, 20-27 and 29-30: since claims 16, 20-27 and 29-30 depend either directly or indirectly on the allowed claim 15, thus are also allowed.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
